Volunteer Docent at 'Iolani Palace

Oct 2021 - Present - Honolulu, Hawaii, United States

Focusing on Hawaiian Culture & Historical Appreciation, 'Iolani Palace is a living restoration of a proud Hawaiian national identity, registered National Historic Landmark and the only official royal palace in the United States. King Kalākaua delighted in showing guests his beautiful modern palace. Today, I get share the history of 'Iolani Palace, its sacred grounds, and the stories of the influential people who made an impact on Hawaii's history with modern-day visitors.

Digital Nomad / Backpack Storytelling, Yarn Faw Inc.

Jan 2017 - Present - Offices in Honolulu, Hawaii & Orlando, Florida

Serving a collective of storytellers from around the world in the development and production of independent and feature films, national commercials, and international content/brand communications. Whether from offices in Florida or a unique location, like Hawaii, my "Digital Nomad" approach to storytelling allows me to lead the Yarn Faw team in bringing good stories to life through technology (and lots of great coffee). The "backpack concept" guides our collective in choosing the smallest impact for the greatest outcomes. After years of globetrotting assignments, I realize customized solutions for changing environments fosters better results and more joy to otherwise stress-threatened creative endeavors. Partnering alongside socially centric entrepreneurs and innovators, our experience, earned over decades of collaboration, supports visionary individuals as well as some of the most recognized brands in the world.
